Valeria believes that improvement comes through collaboration.

Over the last 15 years, Valeria has networked and built successful professional relationships with members of a range of institutions, and within the community. As a result they have contributed to her running successful and complex operations and achieving set educational goals in the Sultanate of Oman.

Valeria is an exceptional education director who has superb people skills and is confident in engaging individuals from a variety of backgrounds and disciplines. She has significant experience in developing and delivering vocational and academic training programmes for a range of audiences.

Valeria has identified and established training and entry-level requirements for key positions for many companies in Brunei Darussalam and Oman.

Valeria has also lead, developed and delivered a number of innovative community programmes with organisations and individuals, including educational organisations and cultural institutions in Oman, Brunei and Australia. Her aim in engaging with industry and community is to further enhance academic and lifelong learning skills.

Community and industry engagement activities include educational competitions, as well as:

Oman: British Council Taqaddam Programme; Ramadan donation drive; MasterChef competition;

Brunei: Australian Film Festival; Australian art exhibition;

Australia: Red Cross fundraiser; Australian Institute of Management - Management Excellence Awards.

She is also a certified external quality assurance reviewer for the General Foundation Programme in Oman.
